

A JACK TAR GETS WIFE AND FORTUNE

John Eggan Receives Discharge From Navy and Elopes With a Schoolgirl.

INHERITANCE THEN UNKNOWN

Man Under Arrest as Gambler a Heidelberg Graduate and Former Rabbi.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, Va., November 9.—A Portsmouth girl, formerly Miss Annie Reed, just in her teens, has run away from school and the home of her sister, Mrs. William Johnson, and become the bride of John Eggan, twenty-nine years of age, recently discharged from the United States Navy, paid off in full, and now to a considerable fortune left him by an uncle in Georgia. The couple were married in Elizabeth City, N. C., and have gone to the home of the groom in Savannah, to spend their honeymoon.

Eggar, who was formerly a gambler, was arrested in the charge against him was learned when he was arrested, for one who knew him in Savannah told the story here today. Of brilliant and excellent personality, and an excellent member of the priesthood, he fell from his high estate, and became a gambler. He was running a gambling table in Savannah, contrary to the law, and was heavily fined in the Police Court of that city. He appealed to the higher court and was fined in the sum of $200 for his appeal, but soon fled.

The higher court heard his case in his absence and sentenced him to a fine of $200, six months imprisonment in jail, and to serve six months in the penitentiary, where there are numerous gamblers and other criminals of every race and color.

After serving this time he will be given three months to get out of the city. Reverting to his old habits, he has been active in his old way since his arrest, but has been unable to do anything for him.

A Savannah detective is now on his way here for the prisoner.

PASTOR RESIGNS.

C. F. Blackburn's Residence, in Stafford, Burns.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RICHMOND, Va., November 9.—Rev. A. T. Linn has resigned as pastor of the Baptist Church in Stafford County, after a pastorate extending through a period of twenty years, during which his church has greatly grown and prospered.

The residence of Mr. C. F. Blackburn, in Stafford County, near Garrisonville, was being moved. No one was in the house at the time Mr. Blackburn and a small child, and the flames made such rapid progress that she was unable to save even the family wearing apparel. The loss was very heavy, and there was no insurance.

Mr. P. R. Jenkins, of King George County, has lost within the past month two scores by typhoid fever, and four other members of his family are now sick with that disease.

BOY'S LEG BROKEN.

Caught Under a Heavy Desk That Fell on Him.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
CHICWEE, Va., November 9.—A 10-year-old son of Mr. A. Drucker had a leg broken and was otherwise injured by having a desk fall on him while his father was mending his household effects from Chicago to Captain's farm, nearby. The mother and father were both out of the room, and an older boy was taking up the matter. In pulling it from under the large desk it tipped over, falling on the little fellow, who had just recently been brought home from a hospital in Richmond, after having been operated on for some serious trouble. Mr. Drucker takes charge of Mr. L. Caplan's poultry farm.

The child is the daughter of one of our most progressive merchants, and is a most excellent young lady, being universally popular.

The presents were numerous and valuable.

Dr. William Shafer, (Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

LEESBURG, Va., November 9.—Dr. William Shafer, son of the late Frederick Shafer, died yesterday at his home in Camden, N. C., from heart disease, aged fifty-five years. He was a prominent physician of Camden. His wife, two sons, three daughters, four sisters and one brother, Mr. Daniel Shafer, of Leesburg, survive.

Died of Lockjaw.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

CHICWEE, Va., October 9.—The infant child, one week old, of Mr. James Andrews died Thursday night of lockjaw.

The remains were taken to Petersburg Friday morning, and interred in the cemetery there. A number of friends accompanied the stricken father on his sad journey.

Struck by a Train.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

SHAWSVILLE, Va., November 9.—Carter, colored, thirty-five years old, single, was struck in the back by an east-bound freight train here yesterday morning. He stepped in front of the train to avoid one passing on the west-bound track. His injuries are thought to be fatal.

Fire at Draper.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

SPRAY, N. C., November 8.—A heavy stable at Draper, N. C., about three miles from here, owned by the Wilson Lumber Company, of this city, was destroyed by fire last night. Eleven horses, one fine milch cow, and a whole lot of feed were destroyed. The total loss will amount to about $2,000, with some insurance. Origin unknown.

COMMEND PLAN TO HONOR POE

HON. JOSEPH E. WILLARD, PRESIDENT OF POE MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION.

Regarded as Eminently Appropriate That Richmond Should Erect Memorial to Southern Genius, Who Once Lived Here.

A definite and well prepared plan for the erection of a suitable monument to the greatest of Southern poets, Edgar Allan Poe, was inaugurated Thursday night in the City Council, when Mr. Willard, president of the Poe Memorial Association, presented a resolution proposing the participation of the city with the recently chartered Poe Memorial Association in the establishment of such a memorial.

The plan provides for a monument to cost $10,000. The site is to be selected by the incorporators of the association and donated by the city. Former Lieutenant Governor Joseph E. Willard is president of the association, which includes several other well known gentlemen, all of whom are ardent admirers of the genius who left to the world a rich legacy of verse of the highest order.

The design and details of the monument have not been determined upon. It is regarded as eminently appropriate that the city of Richmond, the former home and scene of the literary labors of the poet, should be the location of a worthy memorial, and that it should share in paying this tardy tribute to one who is entitled to be numbered among the immortals in the world of letters. The University of Virginia a year or two ago recognized the fact that Poe was a student at that institution by placing a bust of the poet in the hall of the University.

This work is by Julian Zolnay, a French sculptor and admirer of the American genius. Following is the text of the ordinance submitted by the association.

Resolved, That the city of Richmond, Va., do hereby authorize the President of the Poe Memorial Association to select a site for a monument to the poet, and to select a committee to prepare a plan for the same, and to select a committee to raise the money for the same, and to select a committee to erect the same.

The committee on the subject of the monument, which was organized by the association, is composed of the following members: Joseph E. Willard, President; Allen Burtis, James E. Cannon, and Charles Marshall Graves, and by an equal number of the city's representatives from the two branches of the Council, to be elected as follows:

Four from the Common Council and three from the Board of Aldermen, said by the ordinance to be appointed by the respective presidents of each branch.

Mr. W. A. Chestwood has returned from Charlotte, N. C., where he spent several days with friends. During his stay he enjoyed shooting, and bagged considerable game.

PRINCE GEORGE ATTORNEYSHIP

Judge Timothy Rives in the Public Eye as Successor to the Late Thomas A. Brown.

JUDGE WEST TO APPOINT

New Trunk and Bag Factory.

Only One in Nine Passed Civil Service Examination.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PETERSBURG, Va., November 9.—Judge Timothy Rives, the well known Prince George county lawyer, is being considered as the probable successor of the late Mr. Thomas A. Brown as Commonwealth's Attorney of Prince George.

It is not definitely known that Judge Rives is a candidate for the office, but it is understood that his appointment would be very acceptable to the people.

The appointment is to be made by Judge West, of the Circuit Court, at or before the next term of the court.

A new trunk and bag manufacturing company has been organized here for incorporation by several young business men of this city, who, it is understood, have leased the Osborne tobacco factory, on Henry Street, for their purposes.

Mr. McManaway, a well known young citizen, was the only one of nine applicants who succeeded in passing the recent civil service examination held here for the appointment of a storekeeper in the United States customs service. His name will be placed on the eligible list.

A beautiful musical program was excellently rendered at the West Street Methodist church this evening by a number of well known musical artists of this city, including Mrs. J. J. Nelson, Miss Evelyn Beasley and Miss Edna Beasley.

Professor I. C. Rippe, Mr. W. P. Beasley, Mr. W. G. Radcliff and the Holt-Dean orchestra.

The Methodist churches of Petersburg will present good reports to the annual session of the Virginia Conference, to be held in Portsmouth next week. An excellent condition of finances and a gratifying growth in membership of both churches and Sunday-schools will be shown.

The only minister here whose term expires with the present conference year is the Rev. F. G. Davis, of the West Street church, whose four years' work in this field has been marked by great success.

The Baptist delegates of this city, and a number of lay delegates, will attend the annual session of the General Baptist Association of Virginia in Grace Avenue Baptist church, Richmond, next week.
